Vologda, a Russian Tape Lace

Vologda lace is a tape lace worked with a limited amount of bobbins and always with a gimp. This gimp can run along as a passive or it can be twisted or plaited. The lace can be worked in traditional white or in color. Traditional & modern designs are worked. The tape and the fillings are joined with a crochet hook.

Vera has been teaching lace for 40 years internationally. She made a study of the Vologda lace before there was a book available in English by studying German and Russian publications. Her book is the only one available in English. Vera lives in Flanders, Belgium, close to Bruges and the Belgian lace centers. Vera is the author of many lace technique books.
